FOR WHAT PURPOSE DO WE COLLECT CERTAIN DATA?

Usually their purpose is directly related to the reason why they have reached us. This data will be retained as long as you do not request its deletion.

LEGAL BASIS FOR DATA PROCESSING

It depends on why or how we got them.

- If it is because you have sent us information of a fundamentally professional nature, with a view to exploring some kind of collaboration with companies or clients related to the industry in which our company operates, in order to evaluate it and, if necessary, get in touch with them.
- If it is because you have subscribed to any of our publications, to be able to send them to you and because we understand that there is an interest on your part in the contents of our website and you want to know more about them.

About social networks, we will handle the data in the terms and conditions that they have in force at the time.

WHO WILL SEE YOUR DATA?

The data we collect will be communicated to third parties or entities according to their interest or relevance to a possible collaboration, which is the purpose of this specialized service.

YOUR RIGHTS ABOUT YOUR OWN DATA

At any given time you have the right to:

- request access to your personal and professional data (to know what data we hold about you)
- request rectification or deletion (correct any specific data, update or delete it if it is no longer necessary for the function for which it was collected)
- request the deletion of your data (right to forget)
- request a processing limitation (only to be used for the purpose for which the consent was given or even to be reduced if the relationship has changed)
- request the portability of your data (we will send it to you in an understandable format)
- in the event of a security issue that compromises your data, to be informed of it and of the measures taken within 72 hours from the moment we are aware of the problem.

You may withdraw this consent at any time, without affecting the lawfulness of the treatment based on your prior consent to its withdrawal. To exercise these rights, please contact us using the form or directly by e-mail to rgpd-contacto @ inseltrade.com.

SOURCE OF YOUR DATA

The information we may have about you will have been sent to us mainly via email, web forms, instant messaging applications, social or professional networks, or by post.

SECURITY PRECAUTIONS

Inseltrade proceeds with the legally required diligence to safeguard the protected data of its users and customers. However, no security is 100% reliable and therefore Inseltrade shall not be liable for damages caused by fraudulent actions of other persons or entities.

ABOUT THE COOKIES

Since May 25, 2018, it is a mandatory condition for visiting almost any website to expressly accept the use of cookies.

Almost every website you visit uses cookies of different types. These cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer to learn more about this visit.

And what do they say? Typically, the time of access, from which platform (computer, mobile phone, tablet, etc.), which pages you viewed, how long your visit lasted and from which geographical location you visited us. Thanks to them we can know the habits and preferences of our visitors to improve their experience. Here we use them of two basic types: the necessary ones, which allow the normal functioning of the page, and the analytical ones, which give us data on the traffic of visits of which we spoke to you before.

However, the cookies we collect do not contain personally identifiable information. Just in case you're curious, you can see the explanation here about how Google Analytics does about cookies in websites.

WHAT IF I DO NOT WANT COOKIES INSTALLED ON MY COMPUTER OR DEVICE?

It's simple: set your browser to block them. What do you mean? Everyone has their own method: Mozilla Firefox / Google Chrome / Microsoft Edge / Safari de Apple / Opera
